ACTIVITY PROPOSAL

ACTIVITY: REVIEW OF FACULTY RESEARCH PROPOSALS FOR 2022

DATE: September 7 – November 26, 2021

VENUE: Graduate School Office and Google Meet

OBJECTIVES: The activity/project hopes to:

1. Enable the faculty-researchers to package their research proposals into a comprehesnive, logical and scientific project/study;
2. Seek the expert assistance of evaluators who are researchers themselves along similar field of specialization, and have publications in reputable journals;
3. Provide discussion opportunities between and among faculty and external evaluators who can help improve and develop the proposal.

PROPONENT: School of Graduate Studies (SGS)

PARTICIPANTS: Faculty-researchers of SGS

Participants should bring their laptop and draft research proposal. They should be prepared to re-write their research proposal.

PROFILE OF THE ACTIVITY:

A. Rationale

All core faculty and many shared faculty of the School of Graduate Studies (SGS) are engaged in research since 2017. Many of them have completed a number of research studies and are expected to engage in research continuously. The Research and Development Office has reiterated the recent guidelines in the submission of propsoals for university funding.

For the coming year 2022, another round of proposal-writing and review shall be conducted as early as this time, September 2021. A vital part of the whole process is the review and improvement of the proposals before approval by the SGS Dean and eventual submission to the R and D Office. The SGS has therefore conceptualized this proposal which is a series of workshops to provide the faculty a venue to present their research proposals to a panel of reviewers.

B. Mechanics:

The reviews will be discipline-based consisting of three (3) clusters, namely: (a) education; (b) governance and public administration; and (c) business, economics and managament. The proposal shall be submitted to the Research Coordinator for initial screening mainly to check if the research problem is aligned with the university's research priorities and directed toward a quality research output. There will be three (3) reviewers per proposal.

The SGS Research Team, headed by the Research Coordinator, shall organize the following procedures:

a. Preferrably within five (5) working days after the deadline of the submission of proposals, the team will set a schedule with the evaluators for proposal review per cluster;
b. The team will send the proposal to three (3) identified evaluators together with an evaluation form (Form 1);
c. In the enbanc review, the proponent will present the highlights of the research and the evaluators will give a summary of their comments and recommendations;
d. The accomplished evaluation form signed by the reviewer shall be collected by the team with a copy provided to the proponent;
e. In case of disagreements and/or conficts in recommendations, the panel of evaluators should settle the matter during the online meeting;
f. Within five (5) working days, the proponent shall submit to the team the revised manuscript based on the evaluators' comments together with a compliance report (Form 2);
g. If the evaluator accepts the revisions, an approval form will be signed (Form 3); if not, the evaluator will go back to the proponent to clarify what is needed to get the former's approval;
h. The approval of two (2) out of three (3) evaluators will suffice.
i. The budgetary requirements of the research shall be evaluated by the SGS Research Coordinator and Dean;
j. The proponent shall incorporate the revised budget in the revised proposal before submission to the Research Coordinator;

The Research Coordinator will sign the proposal recommending approval, then the SGS Dean will sign for approval. At this stage, the proposal is deemed final and cannot be subjected to any other kind of review. The approved proposal will be turned over to the Research and Development Office for the issuance of a Notice to Proceed.
